

Winner of INVESTOR of the year

Leadenhall Capital Partners

In its first full year after Amlin increased its shareholding in Leadenhall Capital Partners, the London-based ILS fund continued to expand its capital base. Leadenhall invests across a wide range of products, both life and non-life as well as catastrophe bonds and private placements – giving investors and protection buyers a full suite of options.

Partnering with Amlin has enabled Leadenhall to achieve its target signings on private reinsurance deals. Judges said Leadenhall's approach delivered a "joined-up" service with the rated reinsurer, without being beholden to the carrier.

The manager's funds delivered on their return targets in 2015.

Jillian Williams – Ben Brookes (RMS)

Entry criteria: Candidates will be institutions, individuals or investment teams that have made an outstanding contribution to the development of the ILS investor community in the previous year. The winner will have demonstrated either a continued, deep commitment to ILS, success in attracting new investors to the sector through a fund, an innovative or pioneering approach or the commitment to research and understand the sector.